

ARAVA - THE JEWISH ENVIRONMENTAL EXPERIENCE ON KIBBUTZ LOTAN

A unique accredited study and work experience located in Israel's Southern Arava Desert focusing on the ethical, physical and social components of sustainable development from a liberal Jewish perspective. The program is conducted in English.

Program of study:

- Green Apprenticeship - twelve weeks of hands-on, practical lessons in alternative building techniques, environmental design, sustainable community and organic gardening. Graduates will receive an internationally recognized permaculture design certificate. The Green Apprenticeship takes place within the framework of a Reform, intentional community striving for sustainability.
- Choice of academic courses at the Arava Institute for Environmental Studies
- Course in Judaism and the environment
- Hebrew language studies

Length of program:

September through May

For additional information and application forms please contact info@arava.org

CFCE - located on Kibbutz Lotan: www.kibbutzlotan.com

AIES - located on Kibbutz Ketura: www.arava.org

Aims of the program:

- Improve your Hebrew
- Strengthen Jewish identity
- Study Jewish sources
- Explore Israel
- Volunteer in Israeli society
- Gain leadership training
- Experience Israeli culture
- Learn sustainable development skills
- Acquire hands-on ecological experience

Scholarships:

Available through the Jewish Agency Masa program.

Why you should take part:

Learn skills to benefit the environment of Israel and the world.

Strengthen your connection with Israel.

Identify with liberal Judaism in Israel.

Meet other students and explore Israel together.

Experience communal kibbutz living.

Live in a peaceful desert environment.

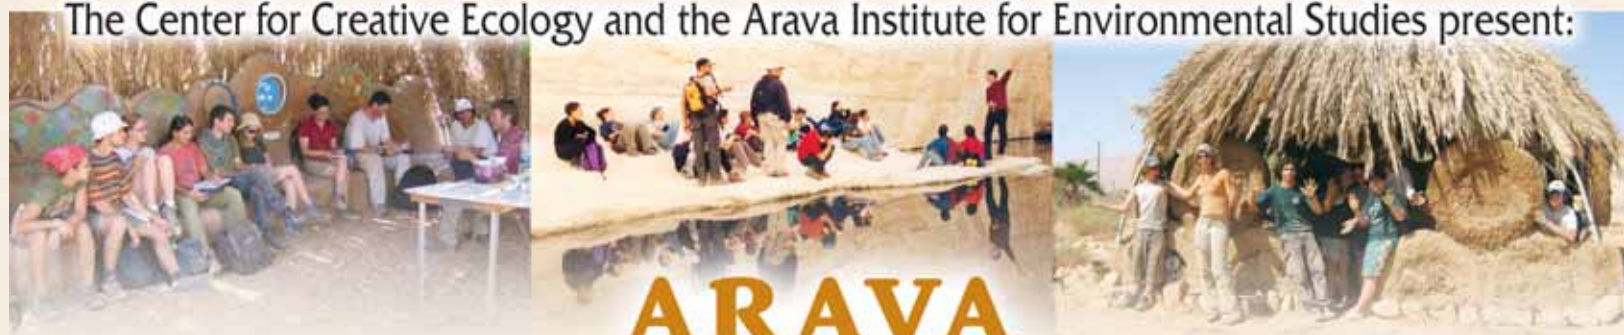

Earn 15 academic credits.

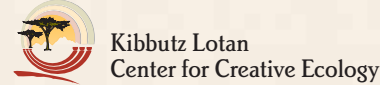

on Kibbutz Lotan

The Jewish Environmental Experience

ARAVA

The Center for Creative Ecology and the Arava Institute for Environmental Studies present:

Center for Creative Ecology - (CFCE)
lotan-ecocenter@lotan.ardom.co.il
www.kibbutzlotan.com

Phone in Israel: 972-52-3960904, Fax: 972-8-6356842

Arava Institute for Environmental Studies (AIES)
www.arava.org • info@arava.org
 Phone in USA: 1-866-31-ARAVA

The Arava Institute North America is a 501(c)(3) tax exempt organization, providing financial support to the Arava Institute in Israel.

The Center for Creative Ecology is funded by the Tzel Hatamar registered non profit society. Kibbutz Lotan is a member of the Israel Movement for Progressive Judaism and the Global EcoVillage Network.

Printed on recycled paper

